Professional development seminars for English teachers

Develop your English language teaching skills

English UK is holding an afternoon of continuous professional development (CPD) seminars at the Hilton Hotel Milan on Monday 16 October. The event is part of the English UK Fair, Italy 2017.

This afternoon is designed to help local high school teachers understand the full potential of the UK's English language training (ELT) resources, and to develop your English teaching skills.

Funding, safety and choosing an accredited centre

You will receive updates on possible funding opportunities (PON and 'Piano per la Formazione dei Docenti'), information on Accreditation UK (the UK's quality assurance scheme).

You will also discover how, by choosing to study at an accredited centre in the UK, your students are ensured the highest safety standards during their overseas study trip.

The presenters include representatives from INDIRE, Trinity College London, English UK and MIUR.

Networking opportunities

In addition to the high-profile seminar programme, you will benefit from networking opportunities.

Over drinks and dinner, you will meet with local agencies who can help arrange study trips as well as representatives from teaching centres from destinations all over the UK.

Is there a cost?

No, there is no cost. This event is free for teachers.
